

Mathematics Course Rotation

(Revised 2023)

This document shows the courses that will typically be offered in each semester. Some upper-level courses are only offered every other year. Actual offerings may differ due to any number of circumstances. For exact course offerings, up to six months in advance, please check with your advisor or the department head.

- Graduate courses (numbered at the 5000 and 6000 level) are available upon request, corresponding to the 3000 and 4000 level courses, respectively. For example, MATH 3600 has a graduate-level counterpart, MATH 5600, and MATH 4081 has a graduate-level counterpart 6081. All requests for graduate courses go through the Department Head.
- Courses in parentheses may not be available during the 2023-24 academic year.
